OBJECTIVE

As an accomplished child and adolescent psychiatrist, I have gained extensive experience in navigating the complex landscape of diagnosing and treating a variety of mental health challenges that affect young individuals. My expertise lies in empathetically understanding and addressing the unique psychological needs of this age group, while also maintaining a strong focus on creating a supportive environment for their families. By diligently collaborating with caregivers, I strive to achieve the most optimal outcomes in the journey towards emotional well-being and personal growth for each patient.
